

Thurgood Marshall. The Right Man. The Right Place.

A deep dive inside the life of Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. We explore beyond the courtroom - and take a look at the man who helped to shape the America we know today. The Program is hosted by FNC's Juan Williams and is now available on the platform.

Alveda King's House: Celebrating Love & Black History

Drop Date 2/11

Celebrate Valentine's Day and Black History Month at Alveda King's House as she prepares her brother Derek's Creole gumbo for her family members and they reflect on black history and love.

A Game for Us All

Drop Date 2/23

While baseball has always been known as "America's game," it wasn't until 1947 until the sport finally included all Americans. This film, narrated by Black Major League Baseball veteran Billy Sample, honors the story of Jackie Robinson, the first Black man to play in the MLB, as well as the men who served as pioneers for Black baseball and truly made it "a game for us all."

Guarding Old Glory

Drop Date 2/24

Born a slave and died an American hero. We take a deep look into the life of Sgt. William H. Carney who was the first African American to receive the Medal of Honor. Despite being shot several times in battle he held onto the American flag rallying his fellow Union soldiers during the Civil War and refused to let 'Old Glory' touch the ground.